DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 4-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 4 provides for the use of a video output unit but, since the claim does not set forth any steps involved in the method/process, it is unclear what method/process applicant is intending to encompass. A claim is indefinite where it merely recites a use without any active, positive steps delimiting how this use is actually practiced.

Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed recitation of a use, without setting forth any steps involved in the process, results in an improper definition of a process, i.e., results in a claim which is not a proper process claim under 35 U.S.C. 101. See for example Ex parte Dunki, 153 USPQ 678 (Bd.App. 1967) and Clinical Products, Ltd. v. Brenner, 255 F. Supp. 131, 149 USPQ 475 (D.D.C. 1966).

The examiner notes that claim 4 is a method claim, yet the limitation “a video output unit for outputting the still images selected by the still image generation unit” claims an apparatus. The examiner recommends amending this final limitation to read either, "outputting the still images selected by a still image generation unit," or, "outputting, by a video output unit, the still images selected by a still image generation unit " to put the claim in better condition for allowance (wherein the examiner notes that there is improper antecedent basis for "the still image generation unit," and instead recommends "a still image generation unit").

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1 and 3 are allowed.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:

Applicant's independent claim 1 is drawn toward an apparatus for extracting representative still images from Moving Picture Experts Group (HPEG) video, comprising: a user requirement input unit for inputting a number n from the user to divide the video curve into n segments, where n is a positive integer; a video curve generation unit for calculating maximum distances between adjacent frames of all I-frames' cumulative DC histogram values of input video and generating a video curve that is a cumulative curve of the maximum distances; a video curve division unit for dividing the video curve into the n segments using n th-order approximation line and n th-order approximation tangent point; a still image selection unit for selecting video images corresponding to the n th-order approximation tangent points of the divided video curve as representative still images, where the n th-order approximation tangent points are the points on the video curve which have the maximum distances between themselves and the nth-order approximation line; and a video output unit for outputting the still images selected by the still image generation unit.

Applicant's claim 1 comprises a particular combination that is neither taught nor suggested by the prior art. The closest prior art of record, Suh (US Patent 7,257,261), differs from the claimed invention by not teaching or fairly suggesting a video curve division unit for dividing the video curve into the n segments using nth-order approximation line and nth-order approximation tangent point; a still image selection unit for selecting video images corresponding to the nth-order approximation tangent points of the divided video curve as representative still images, where the nth-order approximation tangent points are the points on the video curve which have the maximum distances between themselves and the nth-order approximation line.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
